

Evaluating Sources

Evaluate Sources of Information

Appropriateness:

Does it have the type and amount of information I need?

Availability:

Is the source readily available? Is the information easy to access?

Currency:

Is it important that the information be up-to-date? Is it current enough to be accurate and useful?

Authority:

Who created the source? Is the individual qualified to write or speak on this topic?

Reliability:

Is the information factual or is it just opinion? Can it be backed up by other sources?
